

EXES WILL BE ON CAMPUS

Homecoming Is Saturday

The second all exes homecoming will begin with registration and open house in the Teepee at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Activities will include a parade, group meetings, dinner, football game and 5th quarter.

Plans for homecoming are under the direction of The Reverend Leo Rudd, director of the Baptist Bible Chair.

On the reception committee are Hal Smith, Student Council president, and faculty members Mrs. Sam Smyrl and Herman L. Crow.

A parade is planned for 4 p.m. Jack Betts, drafting instructor, is chairman of the parade committee. Also on the committee are James "Sue" Wiley, president of the Ex-lettermen's Association;

Jack Pollard; Eddie Fowler; and Mrs. Mildred Stringer.

Group meetings of organizations will begin at 5 p.m. Meetings scheduled are nurses, ex-lettermen, former belles, former band, business majors, home economics, drafting, education, English, history, theology, engineering, and journalism. Rudd said he hoped others would organize.

A dinner for the alumni will be served at 6 p.m. in the Teepee.

President H. E. Jenkins and Dean E. M. Potter will welcome the exes. An Alumni Association will be organized and officers elected.

During half-time activities of the TJC-Exarkana game, ex-lettermen will be recognized. Halftime activities will also include presentation of the homecoming queen and performance by the band and belles.

A 5th quarter in the Teepee for alumni and students begins immediately after the game.

A pep rally will be held Friday morning at 10:42 in the Teepee. Theband will be on hand to add color and excitement. Cheerleaders have requested the boys sit on one side in the Teepee and the girls on the other.

Indian dancing by the Apache Guard Association will be featured, said Justus Mertz, president.

The homecoming queen will also be presented.

Jim Bailey said he had high hopes of the boys out yelling the girls but Miss Kay Rodieck feels that the boys "haven't a chance."

mediately after the game. Sponsors will be Mrs. Louise Clinkscales, Lawrence Birdsong, and Robert Reynolds.

Journalism exes will meet at See JOURNALISM, Page 5

Rally Features Snake Dancing

A snake dance will follow the pep rally today during activity period.

Cheerleaders hope the snake dance will stimulate school spirit and interest in the Apache-Exarkana game Saturday night.

The drum section of the Apache Band will lead the dance, playing the Apache Tomtom dance.

Cheerleaders join the drum section and students will fall in behind the cheerleaders.

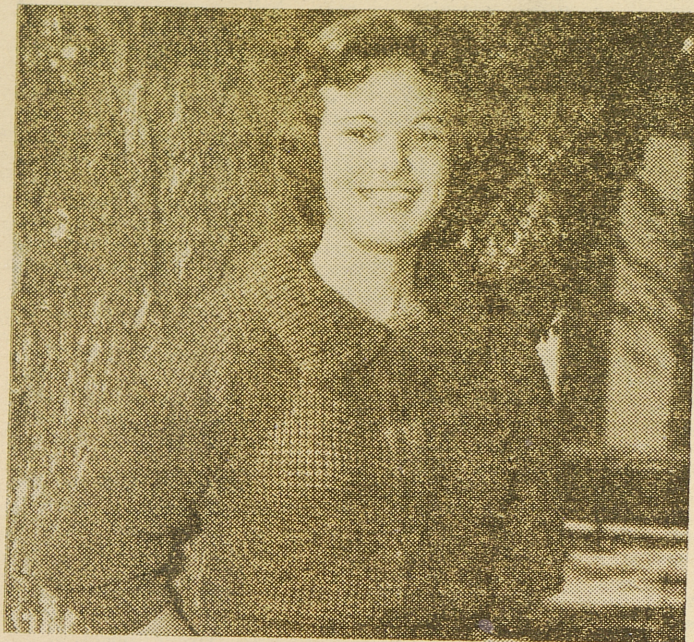

The snake dance is sponsored by cheerleaders Miss Helen Pratt, Miss Kay Rodieck, Miss Carole Bosworth, John Talley, Flay Don Stallings, and Jim Bailey.

The dance starting in the Teepee, will proceed to the main building and return to the Teepee. It is scheduled to last 15 minutes.

Lockhart Present Oration In TCU Meet

Miss Sylvia Lockhart will enter the TCU Forsensic Tournament Friday and Saturday. Other speech students will observe the contest.

Herman Crow will take Steve Ramsey and Larry Coleman to observe in debate. Dr. Jeane Browne will accompany Miss Lockhart to the meet.

'59 QUEEN—Miss Laquita Beardin of Tyler will reign as Homecoming Queen and will be presented at the pep rally Friday. She was selected by the Apache athletes and will take part in all homecoming events including the Saturday parade, half-time activities, and the dance after the game. Miss Beardin was selected most beautiful girl at Robert E. Lee last year. Other honors include being selected as football and basketball princess at Robert E. Lee last year, cheerleader at Hogg Junior High, and East Texas winner in the national contest, "Girl on Page 44."

'United Nations Stresses Human Relations Work'

The United Nations has done most good in the field of human relations, according to Robert G. Storey, dean of the SMU Law School and U.N. speaker here.

Storey re-emphasized the validity of a quotation Dean E. M. Potter gave in his introductory remarks:

"The U.N. is not a world government, it does not impose taxes, pass laws, or draft soldiers. Its place is to talk things over and work out situations."

Judge T. B. Ramey, who introduced Storey, further pointed out that the dream of the U.N. is to promote better understanding and peaceful relations between countries.

Storey illustrated the U.N.'s progress in promoting understanding and peaceful relations with the settlement of the Berlin crisis in 1948 when Russia had cut off all communication in Berlin. A U.N. representative and a Soviet Union representative met, mediated through the U.N., and solved the crisis.

The U.N. has brought about student, technical, and professional exchanges, he said.

Emphasizing the U.N.'s work in educational exchanges, he said that over 60,000 foreign students have come here to school while over 14,000 American students have been sent abroad.

Storey strongly declared his opposition to admitting Red China to the U.N. His reason was three-fold:

(1) The U.S. is still at technical war with the Red Chinese

(2) The U.S. is supporting Chiang Kai-Shek. (He voiced ap-

TO BEGIN AT TEEPEE

Belles, Band To Lead Parade

The homecoming parade will organize at 3:30 p.m. and begin promptly at 4 p.m. in the Teepee parking lot, according to Jack Betts, parade chairman.

The Apache Belles and Band will lead the parade. Following will be the homecoming queen, ex-letterman, exes, administration, coaches, cheerleaders, sophomore and freshman beauties, organization beauty representatives, and members of the organizations.

The police escorted parade will go North and up Broadway, turn right on Elm to Spring, west to Ferguson, and left on Broadway to the front of the court house. Here the parade will stop for a 15-minute pep rally before returning to the Teepee.

Each of the beauties' cars will have her name and the name of the organization sponsoring her. Organizations are to furnish their beauty representative with a car, corsage, and escorts.

All beauties except Apache Belles and cheerleaders are to wear tailored suits and their escorts dark suits.

Organizations should contact Art Fiste, secretary of the student body to secure positions in the parade and to obtain other needed information.

Students who plan to enter the parade must have their cars decorated. Cars for the ex-lettermen will be furnished by local dealers.

In case of rain Saturday afternoon the parade will be held for pre-game, according to Betts.

He stresses motivation as the most important quality of success. He maintains that any student who has strong enough motivation will be able to override discouragements, and he added, "believe me, every student has times of discouragement when he doesn't know if it's worth it."

He commented that he has seen students with minimum college ability but with strong motivation go through college successfully and become leaders.

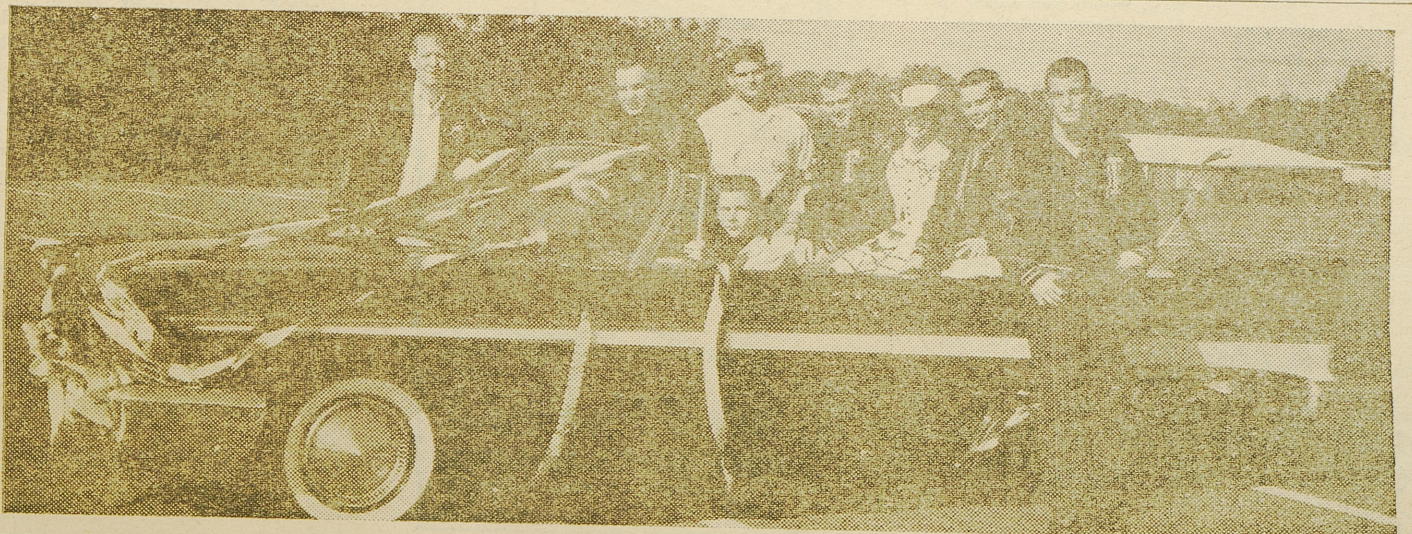

On the other hand, he said he has seen some basically brilliant students enter college and make miserable failures.

Lack of motivation, he explained, stems from a complete failure in development of sense of responsibility.

Teachers, he insists, should do more than teach the mere ABC's of a course. They should try to motivate their students.

Dr. Potter can speak of motivation with understanding stemming from personal experience.

(right), Guy Stafford, have just finished tying streamers on one of the many cars to be used in the Homecoming parade and pep rally downtown on the Courthouse Square.

Group Re-Elects Rudd Chairman

The Reverend Leo Rudd was re-elected by the Homecoming Committee to head activities for 1960-61.

Rudd, director of the Baptist Bible Chair at TJC and a member of the TJC faculty for about 10 years, was the first general chairman of an all-exe homecoming committee.

Members of this year's Homecoming Committee are:

Hal Smith, current president of the student body; James Wylie, president of the Ex-lettermen's association; Coach Floyd Wagstaff; Jack Pollard, president of the student body 1955-57; Gayle Essary, president of the student body 1957-58; and James Powell, president of the ex-journalism association.

Faculty members on the committee are:

Miss Elizabeth Bryarly, Mrs. Mary Wallace, Mrs. Mildred Stringer, Mrs. Blanche Prejean, Miss Mabel Williams, Jack Betts, Dr. Wiley Jenkins, Louise Clinkscales, Edwin Fowler, Mrs. Averille Greenhaw and Francis L. Haley.

Counselor to youth: "Your vocational-aptitude test indicates that your best opportunities lie in a field where your father holds an influential position."

KLTV To Broadcast Homecoming Event

A special television broadcast will be shown Friday, Nov. 6, on "Look Who's Here," a 5 o'clock program on KLTV. It will be composed of TJC personnel and exes who will welcome all exes to homecoming celebrations Nov. 7.

The five-minute program, moderated by "Kip" Kippenbrock, will feature Dean E. M. Potter, charter student of TJC and now an administrator; Mrs. Mary Wallace, who has been a faculty member for several years; James "Sue" Wiley, president of the ex-lettermen and now at Talley Cadillac; and Warren McDonald, attorney and former state senator.

14 Groups Of Exes To Meet Homecoming

Fourteen ex-student organizations are scheduled for group meetings Nov. 7 and other exe groups are invited to organize, announced the Reverend Leo Rudd, chairman of general homecoming activities.

The group meetings will be held at 5 p.m.

Rudd said the 14 were groups that had contacted him and asked for assigned rooms.

Any exes' group can organize, Rudd added, but he said he would like to "know."

The 14 exe organizations and their places for meeting are:

Nurses—Room 114, Main Bldg.; Ex-Lettermen—Room 115, Science Lecture Hall Main, Bldg.; Former-Belles—Room 102, Main Bldg.; Former Band—Room 104, Fine Arts Bldg.; Business Majors—Room 103, Main Bldg.; Home Economics—Room 111, Main Bldg.; Journalism—Room 100, Main Bldg.; Education—Room 106, Main Bldg.; Drafting—Room 204, Main Bldg.; English—Room 105, Main Bldg.; History—Room 205, Main Bldg.; Theology—Baptist Student Center; Engineering—Room 104, Main Bldg.

The largest and oldest of all the ex-student organizations is the Ex-Lettermen's Association. Up until last year this group was responsible for all homecoming activities, including open house, parade, ball game, ex-lettermen supper, dance after the game, and the selection of a homecoming queen.

James Wiley of Tyler, president; Bayne Cook of Van, vice-president; and Woody Tunnell of Tyler, secretary are the association's officers this year.

The ex-education students, the second largest active group, organized last year under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mary Wallace. In the past, Mrs. Wallace taught education and sponsored the future teachers here.

The officers are Sammie Fowler of Grand Saline, president and Mrs. Ann Powell of Tyler, secretary-treasurer. Any education student is eligible to join this organization.

The ex-journalism students, also organized last year, is open to journalism majors or those in the journalism profession. Officers are James Powell of Tyler, president; Bob Bowman of Lufkin, secretary; and Lamar Lewis of Houston, vice-president.

Ex-student groups scheduled to organize this year are: English majors—Miss Elizabeth Bryarly, sponsor; religious education majors—Reverend Leo Rudd, sponsor; history majors—Dr. Wiley Jenkins, sponsor; drafting majors—Jack Betts, sponsor; business majors—Mrs. Louise Clinkscales, sponsor; home economics—Mrs. Averille Greenhaw, sponsor.

APACHE WAR CHANT

Author Of First School Song May Return For Homecoming

The author of "The Apache War Chant," first official song of Tyler Junior College, may return to the campus for homecoming.

Mrs. Wesley Davis Jr. of Houston, the former Miss Frances Strange, said she hopes to attend homecoming and see other members of her class. She attended TJC in 1929-31.

She and her husband are both graduates of TJC. He was the first TJC exe to obtain a doctorate, receiving his PhD from the University of Texas.

"The Apache War Chant," Mrs. Davis's song, was the official school song from 1930-1943. It is now unknown to most students and exes since 1943.

These exes will be more familiar with the present school song, simply called the TJC Alma Mater and written by H. E. Jenkins in 1943.

Dr. Jenkins wrote the words to this song while he was dean of TJC. The college was then located on the Tyler High School campus.

The melody for the alma mater is that first used by Cornell University of Ithaca, New York. It is almost a tradition for alma maters.

Another school song, the Apache Fight Song is also now played at all football games and sung at college gatherings.

1st Reservations Arrive For Homecoming Dinner

The first two reservations to arrive for the Homecoming Dinner were from Carrol Bryant and Bob Bowman.

Carroll is a chemist at Du Pont Chemical in Orange, and Bob is city editor of the Lufkin News. Both sent reservations for husband and wife.

Journalism Exes Invite '59 Majors To Meeting

Journalism Exes invite journalism majors enrolled now to attend their meeting this year.

James Powell, president of journalism exes, suggested the majors attend because "in the next year or two they will be exes and they should know the organization before that time."

Journalism majors now enrolled include Miss Ann Music, Truman Mizzles, Miss Mary Ann Seamon, Mackie Dodd Jr., Jim Davidson, Robert Rhodes, Miss Lynda Stringer, Minnie Glover, Miss Rosiland Butler, Miss Barbara Sue Mayfield, Miss Liz King, and Billy Ray Bugg.

3 Employment Sources Available

Three campus sources of employment are available to students desiring part-time or full-time jobs in the local area.

They are the registrar's office, the business department, and the vocational education department.

The registrar's office posts miscellaneous jobs on the bulletin board in the main hall. Students wanting additional information on the jobs should contact Registrar Eddie Fowler.

Mrs. Louise Clinkscapes, head of the business department, helps students desiring secretarial work find available jobs by referring them to the Texas Employment Commission.

Forest Griffin, director of vocational education, helps to arrange interviews when possible with local firms for students in technical courses.

"Many students help finance their college education with part-time jobs," said Fowler.

Fowler said the registrar's office does not keep a list of students available for employment, but an effort is made to find employment for students who check with the office regularly.

Valedictorian Doubts Keeping All 'A' Record

By JEANETTE EVERETT

For a young lady who thinks "90" an "awful grade," and who was familiar with a 99 average in high school, TJC holds for Miss Mary Alice Dykes the promise of "hard work and no straight A's."

Miss Dykes, one of the 11 valedictorians enrolled here says, "I expect to work as hard as I can this year, but I don't expect the straight A's I made in high school."

The lowest average she made in any subject through her high school years was 90. This was made in typing an average she considers "awful."

She attributes her high school academic success to a special formula:

Stay alert in class. Keep up with your lessons. Don't wait until the last minute to study. And take advantage of the library.

By following this formula, Miss Dykes graduated from Chapel Hill High School with an average of 96.56, one of the highest ever made in her high school.

The highest grade averages Miss Dykes made in high school was a 99 in Algebra II, and a 99 in Plane Geometry. Mathematics and English were the subjects she liked best, and any science or history she disliked on general principles.

Besides being scholarly, Miss Dykes was also active during high school. She was in the choral group, a Student Council officer two years, and a National Honor Society officer one year. Other honors Miss Dykes received were the sophomore class favorite, and the senior "Girls Most Likely to Succeed." She was also valedictorian.

Elementary education is Miss Dykes's major, and she is as yet undecided as to her minor. After leaving TJC she tentatively plans to enter East Texas Baptist College.

But before leaving TJC she expects to "further my education, broaden my interests, and make lots of new friends."

Several Changes Made In Library

There have been some changes made in the library!

Students of last year who remember the hallway lined with books and the old clock that stopped once a day have welcomed the new shelves and a clock that keeps time.

In the periodicals section they will find a new newspaper rack. The public magazine covers have been replaced by leather ones. "Changing Times" and "William and Mary Quarterly" are two of the 20 new magazines now available to the students.

The total number of books added to the library stacks in the last three weeks is 150. The Van Cliburn Legend by Abram Chasins and Oil! Titan of the Southwest by Carl Cooke Rister are two that may be of special interest to East Texas students.

Welcome Back Home

Welcome exes!

We hesitate to call you exes for we feel you are still very much a part of TJC.

Though surely you will find changes in the campus and unfamiliar faces, you will find the same Apache spirit: "On to honor; on to glory; on to victory..."

You return to something you helped build.

Today TJC enjoys the respect of students and educators throughout the United States for its high academic standards established and proved by you its graduates.

You helped build our academic reputation.

Educators have publicly indicated their high respect for TJC. Dr. Ralph Field of Columbia University, after visiting the campus, has twice used our film, "This Is TJC," to show graduate students at Columbia what a typical community college can be.

In his recently completed book on the junior college movement in America, Dr. Field chose TJC to illustrate a typical public community college.

Dr. Leland Medsker of the junior college movement in America, cited TJC as one of the representative junior colleges of the nation on the basis of its good reputation.

Your contributions also take tangible forms familiar to us. The athletic trophies in the Tom Tom Room and the awards and plaques in other departments remind us of the accomplishments you made when you were here.

Apache spirit bridges the gap between you and us in past and present accomplishments and contributions.

Welcome home Apaches!

Thanks To Rudd, Tunnell

Two men deserve advance thanks for the first planned all-exes' homecoming in the college's 33 years.

Several TJC personnel, students, and exes are cooperating on assignments, but without the previous effort of Woody Tunnell and the present efforts of The Reverend Leo Rudd, this would still be a college without a homecoming.

Tunnell, now sidelined as a spectator because of a heart ailment, kept the spark of homecoming alive for years with the return of ex-lettermen on Apache Day. Often as almost a one-man committee, he brought ex-lettermen back to the reservation for most of the festivities of a regular homecoming.

Until last year, the full responsibility for any kind of an alumni days was up to Tunnell, who volunteered to continue doing whatever he could whenever he could. Last year an unplanned attempt was made to bring back exes other than ex-lettermen. A few others came and organized, but it was not a real homecoming.

This will be a real homecoming!

It's planned and organized. The credit goes to Rudd. The thought and time he spent in forming committees, making assignments, and organizing the day from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. was, like Tunnell's, a volunteer service.

Faculty Briefs

Dr. W. T. Guy Jr., chairman of the department of mathematics at the University of Texas, has asked Miss Mabel Williams to serve as chairman of a regional committee for the National High School Mathematics Contest, sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America.

The region which this committee will serve consists of 12 East and Southwest Texas counties.

Day faculty members will meet tomorrow at 7 a.m. for a combination professional faculty meeting-breakfast session in the College Dining Hall.

Two committee chairmen, Mrs. Mary Wallace and Hubert Mills, will report on their phase of the self-evaluative survey of the college.

Irving L. Friedman, director of the Evening College, attended a meeting of directors of distributive education in Austin Oct. 29 and 30.

The meeting, sponsored by the State Department of Education, studied problems relative to 1959-60 adult distributive education.

Mrs. Frances Flaherty, business instructor now on leave of absence because of illness, attended a faculty "activity-period coffee" last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hix are parents of a daughter. She is the couple's third child. According to Hix, physics instructor, the new arrival has not yet been named, but he has "turned in a list of approved names to his wife."

Mrs. Blanche Prejean, journalism instructor, will participate on a panel for a meeting of Red Cross chapters of the Southwest Nov. 6 at the Blackstone Hotel.

Two Tyler journalists, Sam Matthews of radio KDOK and William E. Dozier Jr., editor of the Tyler Courier-Times and the Tyler Morning Telegraph, will appear on the panel with Mrs. Prejean.

Attending the meeting will be volunteers from local Red Cross chapters in the Southwest who are responsible for their chapters representation in local newspapers, radio, and television.

The panel discussion, "Working With the Pros," is designed to give the Red Cross volunteers hints as to what makes a good news story or feature, according to James Matthews, chairman of the Public Information and Public Relations Session of the 1959 State Conference.

Apache Mailbox News

Student Probes U.N.

To the Editor:

Ever since United Nations Day has been observed, the people have been told what a fabulous job is being done by the UN, according to the experts.

Each year, the same fact is told of how the organizations such as UNESCO (United Nations Educational Scientific Cultural Organization) are ever moving forward — but what about the UN itself?

It seems to me that the United Nations should be just what the name implies. Nations should be able to work together, and if two of them have a dispute the other nations should be united to stop them. This should keep nations at peace for fear of attack from combined forces of the others.

Last year at the TJC assembly for UN Day, it was stated that the UN had no power to stop disputes. That fact was proved in Korea at the expense of the American tax payer, and more important the loss of American lives. True, other Nations fought, but the United States paid the larger part of the bill.

This year in the assembly we were told about a man in a UN Observers' Force being shot down while carrying a flag of truce to try to settle a border dispute of two countries.

These observer groups are made up of men from different nations who go into these disputed territories unarmed. They risk their lives observing something they cannot stop or help. If these men are killed or injured, there should be something done by the nations whose men make these observations.

Why can't something be done to work toward a goal for United Nations? When the two strong powers of the world (the United States and Russia) can come to a peaceful agreement, there might be a chance for world peace and the goal.

If the only way Communism can be stopped is by fighting, people will have to fight for freedom. If Communism is not stopped, it will make its prediction of conquering the world come true.

Today, we live in an era where the next war could be a push-button affair. The world is now deadlocked.

No one knows who will make the first or next move. What can the United Nations do to prevent a war? What will be the total cost, both monetary and lives, with the complex feelings of nations if something is not done?

I will agree that the organizations sponsored by the UN must be accomplishing some good, but not the important matter of world peace. There should be no reason for a Summit meeting. The UN should be able to discuss these delicate problems if it were as it should be.

The United Nations is not effective. It cannot do the job of settling disputes when it does not have the power to in the first place. About the only thing the United Nations could do now is to let every nation know at the same time who is at war with whom—that is, if the first bomb or rocket does not hit New York and destroy the United Nations building!

Las Mascaras Selects 'Christmas Carol' Cast

A cast of 22 has been selected for the Christmas Carol as Las Mascaras begins work on the Christmas production.

Dr. Jeane Browne said the play calls for 38 but "we are only using 27 because some will play two or three parts."

The main characters are narrator, Earl Slaytor; Scrooge, Steve Ramsey; Bob Cratchit, Dave Coffman; nephew, Frank Jackson; Marley's ghost, Tom Graham; ghost of Christmas past, Bonnie Beard; ghost of Christmas present, Jim Nutter; Scrooge as a young man, David Ward; Scrooge's fiancée, Glendya Odom.

Other characters are the gentleman and Richard, Kenny Bradley; Old Joe, Tom Graham; Caroline, Bonnie Beard; Mrs. Fezzwig, Carol Davidson; Gelle as a matron, Olga Moreland; Belle's husband and second gentleman, Jerry Lambert; undertaker's man, Jim Nutter; Mrs. Cratchit, Karen Kelley; Topper, Bob Patterson; Fred's wife, Gene Ann Jones; 1st gentleman, Karl Chaveys; 3rd gentleman, Larry Coleman; Charwoman, Beth Cox; Martha Akers, Laundress.

Women's Dorm Has Two Phone Booths

The phone problem in the Women's Residence Hall was lessened last week with the installation of two phone booths, one on each floor.

Previously, the only phone was on first floor in the hall. It was removed when the two booths were installed.

Dorm residents said the one phone "in the noisiest place around, with doors clanging and people 'talking' had made communications a problem for the 48 girls.

The children are Little Boy, Little Fan and Jenny Cratchit, Dell Ellison; Scrooge as a child, Paul Cratchit, and a young boy, David Gilbraith; Belle's daughter and servant girl, Glendya Odom; Martha Cratchit, Diane Vaughn; Belinda Cratchit, Mary Ann Dykes and sister, Francis Hill.

Tiny Tim will be played by a member of the School of Ballet and will be cast Wednesday, Oct. 28. Dr. Browne is expecting 10 children to try for Tiny Tim.

Education Group Elects Chairmen

Four committee chairmen for the TSEA, Texas Student Education Association, were elected at the regular monthly meeting.

They were Miss Betty Keener, finance; Alvin Harris, social; Miss Jean Hobbs, publicity; and Miss Betty Vaughn, librarian.

Also elected was Miss Sandy Sanders as beauty representative for the organization.

Mrs. Eva Saunders, the new sponsor, discussed future plans of the organization. Mrs. Mary Wallace, last year's sponsor, was present and "offered her assistance whenever needed."

Miss Jannell Hanna, president, presided.

Other officers are Frank Jackson, vice-president; Miss Mary Alice Dikes, secretary; Miss Carole Henson, treasurer; and Miss Susan Sharp, parliamentarian.

Atta Kula Gives Halloween Party

Atta Kula Kula entertained girls and faculty members with a Halloween coke party Tuesday, Oct. 28, during activity period.

Guests were greeted at the door by club officers: Misses Nancy Pettitt, Kay Rodeick, and Dianne Jones.

The table was spread with a green burlap cloth. A centerpiece of a pumpkin filled with bronze mums, and autumn colored wheat and leaves glittered with gold carried out the Halloween theme. Orange Halloween napkins completed the table decorations.

Refreshments of candy corn and cheese sticks were served with Cokes.

Working on the refreshment committee were Misses Lou Ann James, Betty Lou Gregory, Zelma Mings, Carolyn Ricks, and Kay McKinzie.

Miss Sandra Sanders made hall posters, and Miss Martha Akers made faculty invitations.

Party hostesses were Misses Sue Ann Ward, Betty Dozier, Annetta Wells, Gay Horton, Susan Sharp, Kay Callendar, Dorisene Pierce, and club sponsor Miss Elizabeth Bryarly.

NorrisHeadsCSF

William Norris of Chandler was elected student leader of Christian Student Fellowship at their regular Thursday meeting in the Church of Christ Bible Choir.

Norris is a sophomore transfer from North Texas State and is majoring in PE.

Miss Gene Ann Jones of Tyler, was elected secretary-treasurer. Jones and Frank Jackson of Beeville and Miss Callie Nicholas of Tyler constitute the steering committee for student affairs.

Miss Jones was also selected beauty candidate of CSF.

Apache-Texarkana Encounter Will Determine Tribe's Chances

Apache hopes for sharing the Texas Eastern Conference title will be decided Saturday at 8 p.m. in Rose Stadium when they meet the Texarkana Bulldogs in a homecoming encounter.

Texarkana, an upset winner over top-rated Kilgore two weeks ago, and Paris, whose earlier 19-0 victory stunned the Apaches, are currently riding atop the conference ladder with one victory each.

A Bulldog victory Saturday night would definitely erase the Apaches from the title picture.

Although Texarkana will be slight favorite on paper, TJC will have a decided moral advantage. Homecoming spirit will be at a peak, and the Apaches will be making an all-out effort to avenge losses to the Bulldogs over the past two years.

Apache Exes Play On Scholarships; Run 1st String At Senior Colleges

Jim Davidson

Apache exes seem to be doing well for themselves on football scholarships in senior colleges.

Five are running first string at Stephen F. Austin. They are Ronnie Neill, Jackie Cannon, Otis Hargett, Dean Fikes, and Harold Stephens.

Rodney Parr is a SMU Mustang. Parr is running first string and is seeing a lot of action in the tough Pony schedule.

Other ex-Apaches running first string positions are numerous. These are Leon Fuller at the University of Alabama, Tom McClellan at Tulane, Jack Murphy at Tulsa, Alfred Bisch at Lamar Tech, James Shaw at East Texas State, Lanny Money at Southeast Louisiana Institute, and Ned Jolly at West Texas State.

Larry Corley is seeing action for the Baylor Bears and is also the kickoff and extra-point man.

Perhaps the most fascinating jump is the one by Hampy Hodges, now playing end for the Cadets of West Point.

When Hodges began working out at West Point, 28 boys in his class were fighting for the end position. Hodges is one of the remaining three.

He will handle the kicking chores for the Cadets when they meet the University of Oklahoma.

The only Bulldog losses this season have come at the hands of Wharton and Del Mar, two South Texas powerhouses.

"Physically, the team should be in better condition than at any other time this season," said Coach Floyd Wagstaff. "Pate, Sizemore, Bower, and Stafford, who have been out of action for at least a week, should be able to play at least part time."

Victory number 100 over a period of 13 years came Thursday night when the Apaches downed the McMurry freshman team, 20-8.

Valuable yardage through the middle of the line proved to be the chief factor in Tyler's victory over the air-minded squad from Abilene.

Two touchdowns in the second quarter and another added with a few seconds remaining in the game accounted for the final 12-point margin.

Resorting to the spread formation, the Indians completed a beautiful 50-yard touchdown pass for their lone tally nine minutes deep in the final period.

In what could well prove to be the thriller of the year, Ranger defeated TJC October 24, 26-23.

The lead, seesawing back and forth throughout the game, was not finally decided until a last-minute, come-from-behind score by the Rangers.

JTHS Band Gives Half-Time Show

The John Tyler High School Band made a guest appearance at the half-time activities of the TJC-McMurry game last week.

Under the direction of Richard Highfill, band instructor, the marching band performed a precision drill, which according to Eddie E. Fowler, Apache Band director, "showed many hours of lots of hard work."

"You don't do things like that accidentally," Fowler said, referring to the intricate patterns the band performed. "I thought the whole thing was out of this world," he added.

WORKING AHEAD—Quarterback Richard Staton busily prepares an advanced government assignment for his next class. Staton, who has maintained a B average in his studies despite his busy schedule on the football field, advises students "to keep up with their studies day by day and cramming for exams will not be necessary."

Richard Staton Believes JC Grid Power Balanced

By ROBERT RHODES

Richard Staton, veteran sophomore Apache quarterback, like the average Tyler sports fan, believes junior college football teams are getting stronger and becoming more evenly balanced every year.

"Just a few years ago, Tyler and Kilgore were practically the only powerhouses in this section of the country, but now it's an entirely different situation. I feel that Texas junior college teams are among the nation's best this year," said the left-handed passing star.

The Apaches' season record of four wins, two losses, and one tie can hardly be compared to their 7-0 record at this time a year ago, but this increasing better balance between clubs indicate why nearly all previous games have been hard-fought battles.

A broken nose suffered against Henderson County prevented Staton from suiting up against Paris, and he did not really get back into full swing until the Ranger thriller.

"We'll be high for our homecoming game against Texarkana," said Staton, "because it was their 9-6 victory over us last year that kept our regular season record from being spotless."

Staton, recalling Tyler's post-season classic at Boise, Idaho, last Thanksgiving Day which they lost 22-0, said "If we could have played them at Tyler or at least on a neutral field, it would have been a much better game, and I believe the outcome would have been different."

Returning to the outlook for the 1959 Apaches, Staton thought it "really too bad that we cannot win the national title, because I sincerely believe we can beat any junior college team anywhere when we are ready mentally and physically."

Almost as an afterthought, he grinned, "but I think our basketball team will. They're going to be loaded."

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable.

Rugged lot, those submariners. Great drink, Coke!

Frank Martin Keeps In Touch With Exes

By EVELYN TURNER

It is altogether likely that Frank Martin keeps in touch with more ex-Apaches than any other individual at Tyler Junior College.

Students find him generous in counsel and helpfulness — as well as correction and exes show an unwillingness to let him get out of reach.

Since December, 1955, he has been dorm supervisor for the Apaches. Throughout the school year, from 6 o'clock at night until the next morning, he handles this assignment single-handedly.

He has a great deal to say about the boys he has lived with during these past four years. Of the 250 who have been in the dorm, he feels he can count 248 successes.

"I honestly believe that for the past two years there has been a steady upswing in the attitude and outlook of the boys," Martin commented.

There is a paternal note of pride in his voice when he mentions the boys' keen interest in religious activities. On Sunday mornings he fills his car with young men from the dorm and attends the church of their choice. He has visited all denominations since he began this, and by his own statement, finds something new and useful in each one he visits.

When he took the dorm assignment, he resolved "to try to make all the boys happy by improving any situations I can." He has not forgotten this resolution.

His role as supervisor is a many-sided one. Sometimes he is parent, sometimes confidant. There are rules to be followed and he is firm, but his firmness is tempered with understanding developed through the years. He is allowed to share some of their fun, as well as their problems.

Martin has watched a vast number of improvements made in the athletes' quarters since 1955. The college has replaced gas stoves with new, central heating equipment; air-conditioners have been provided; bare floors are now covered with asphalt tile flooring; new Hollywood beds have replaced army bunks.

This year new study desks and lamps have been added; one or two men are assigned to each room now, instead of the former two to four; 11 new rooms have been added, two of which are furnished for use as a double lounge. The lounge has television, a record-player, and comfortable sofas and chairs.

Martin feels this has provided more than physical comfort and improvement. It has raised the morale of the boys and consequently, made them easier to work with.

Not only is he supervisor of the Apache dorm, but he has eight-hour daily duty as a member of the Tyler Police Force, he is patrolman and friend to school children, active in baseball and football.

Hugh Mills In Charge Of Machine, Supplies

Hugh Mills is in charge of the ditto machine and all instructors are to contact him for ditto supplies or report to him in case of trouble with the machine.

Mills asks instructors to check the machine for faults before using. Instructors should have stencils cut and supplies on hand before beginning to mimeograph.

Mills' office is Room 211 in the main building. His office hours are MWF 11:36, MW 1:24, TT 12:30.

Geography Instructor To Sponsor Guards

Tom Robinson of Tyler was elected sponsor of the Apache Guard Association at their regular Tuesday meeting. Robinson a geography instructor, is the first sponsor of the new organization.

Other officers of the club this year are Justus Mertz of Waco, president; John Talley of Palestine, vice-president; Flay Don Stallings of Winona, secretary-treasurer; Larry Coleman of Sherman, reporter and student council representative.

Future plans of the AGA is to sponsor a caravan to the Kilgore game, to co-sponsor the Kilgore week bonfire, and to help organize pep rallies for more variety.

Already AGA has sponsored a caravan to the Paris football game and a pep rally up town.

AGA is established to promote school spirit, to work with other campus organizations, and to promote good social relations between students and faculty.

Kappa Sigma Initiates 6 Pledges For Semester

Kappa Sigma Lambda pledged six men this semester. The pledges, chosen by members from the freshman and sophomore classes, are Gary Aaron, Cliff Caskey, Tom Dunwoody, Don Foshee, Billy Lumley, and Larry Turner.

Pledges go through three weeks of initiation and "Hell Night" on the last Friday of the three-week period. After "Hell Night" they become members. Two of the new members are chosen to head initiation the following semester.

This semester's pledgemasters are Charles Harvin, Charles Jurden, and Dwayne Freeman.

Kappa Sigma Lambda is the only fraternity on the campus. It is responsible for the annual bon fire, helps with the Sadie Hawkins Dance, and Western Week.

This year's officers are Don Robertson, president; Mickey Johnson, vice-president; and Raymond Smith, secretary.

The fraternity plans to increase the number of members by having an open pledge next semester.

Former TJC Student Part Owner Of KGKB

Ray Lewis, '55 graduate, became part owner of KGKB last week when the O'Conner Broadcasting Corporation, of which Lewis is vice-president, purchased the station.

KGKB will stress music and news — "strong on local news," Lewis said.

Lewis went from TJC to the University of Texas where he received his bachelor of journalism degree in public relations.

His first job was with the Houston Chronicle in the promotion department. He later joined the Temple Telegram as manager of national advertising.

Lewis was on the Pow Wow Staff while at TJC and was the first recipient of the T. B. Butler key, annual award made to the most valuable Pow Wow staff member.

Lewis is general manager of Station KTXO in Sherman and Denison. The O'Conner Broadcasting Corporation purchased KTXO in 1958 while Lewis was station manager.

Totem Pole Is Record Of Life On '28 Campus

Apacheland, as it was 31 years ago, is recorded in black and gold on the now scarred Apache Totem which stands in a corner of the library.

The totem pole, constructed in 1928 by Sam Nash, ex and cartoonist for the Tyler Courier-Times, symbolizes sports, organizations, classes, and activities of that year.

Many of the symbolized activities exist today.

"TJC Apaches" followed by a row of teepees circle the top of the pole.

Pictured next are warriors, tomahawks in hand, to symbolize the fighting spirit of the Apaches.

The most prominent figure on the pole is the big chief Alcalde, representing the dean at that time, H. E. Jenkins.

Under Alcalde is an array of sports equipment, tennis rackets, basketballs, baseballs, and bats to signify the sports world of TJC.

Next the pre-law students are caricatured by braves trying to "shoot the bull," which is a buffalo.

Following is a line of dumbbells representing sophomores. Freshmen are shown at the bottom of the pole as swimming fish.

The huddle of braves around the council fire has been said to represent anything from a class in session to a discussion between the dean and registrar.

Dozier Explains Service Of Newspaper To Class

The newspaper's chief service to the public is its report of public affairs, according to William E. Dozier Jr., editor of the Tyler Courier-Times and Tyler Morning-Telegraph.

Dozier discussed the newspaper's responsibility to keep the public informed for Journalism 113 students last week.

Unless the people know about their government's activities, they cannot form opinions of their government officials, he said.

He emphasized that "reporting of public affairs goes deeper than accounts of city council meetings."

Complete reporting of public affairs calls for hard work and initiative on the part of the reporter.

"It is checking, re-checking, and cross-checking," he said.

"Free people are informed people. The information the newspapers of today give us, the free people of the earth, is basis on which to form our opinions, actions, and votes," Dozier told the class.

This information is sometimes hard to get or kept completely from the public by government officials and agencies, he continued, citing the "confidential files" in the Department of Commerce as an example.

"The failure of the last state legislature to pass bills providing for open sessions in the state legislature prohibiting the destruction of public records by public officials and making public court records available to the public indicates that our state government has become too secretive," Dozier said.

PRIZE IS PARIS TRIP

Voting For Belle To End Nov. 30

Twenty - six days remain on Apache Belle calendars, as they "X" the remaining voting days in the local contest to send a Belle on a $5,000 tour of Paris, France.

Sponsored by Texas Distributor's Inc. and Jackson Travel Agency, purchases from either firm until Nov. 30 represent votes for the purchaser's favorite Belle.

All Belles are candidates.

Between Dec. 15 and April 1, 1960, the winning Apache Belle and her chaperone will receive the seven-day, expense-free trip to Paris.

Apache Belles Using New Travel Uniforms

All Apache Belles travel uniforms this year are black. In contrast with last year, freshman and sophomore Belles wear identical travel uniforms.

Last year sophomores were easily distinguished from freshmen by their solid white coveralls. Freshmen wore black blouses and black slim-jims.

After a discussion over the new travel uniforms, the Belles voted for identical outfits for a more uniform appearance.

Black blouses and the black slim-jims are the same as those freshmen wore last year.

As the name implies, these outfits are worn chiefly for travel. Travel uniforms are also worn for occasional pep rallies.
